Troubles on Treasure Hill

by Jeff Nazzaro

Residents of Treasure Hill Road brought frustrations over incomplete street work at the Treasure Hill Estates subdivision before the planning board Tuesday night, gaining at least part of what they were looking for - the ears of town planning officials, who had previously granted developer Kevin MacDonald extensions on a performance bond through Sept. 30 of this year.

"Some of the issues were brought to the table and discussed in an open forum," residential spokesperson Karen Metcalfe said following the meeting. "However, our concerns over the completion of the subdivision have in no way been dissuaded."

The issues lie with the performance bond, which MacDonald posted for approximately $72,000 in 1993 to ensure the completion of the road, curbing, sidewalks, recharge basins and streetlights for the subdivision.

MacDonald presented a work schedule to the board on June 5 that would have the street completed by the Sept. 30 deadline, which is all residents are hoping for.

"If the conditions of the extension period are met by Kevin MacDonald, and the promised work is completed within the timeframe ... we would be quite pleased," Metcalfe stated in a letter she read at the meeting.

Residents of this pricey, 12-home development off Andover Street are concerned that the steady construction zone their street has been has affected their quality of life and, more important, serves as a dangerous magnet for children, not least of all their own. Residents of the five developed homes on Treasure Hill have between them 11 children, with two more on the way this summer, according to the residents' other spokesperson, Michael Bennett.

"We worry for the safety of these children and are concerned about liability should an accident occur,"

Bennett outlined in a letter endorsed by subdivision residents.

The board seemed to sympathize with residents from the start of the meeting.

"My first reaction," Chairman Dick Longo told them, "is to applaud your active involvement."

Board member Jim Diorio stated "I think safety is a big issue; I hope you can resolve that."

Member Carole Hamilton, however, pointed to the current real estate market as perhaps contributing to MacDonald's slow progression towards finishing construction.

"Some of what happens in a subdivision is market driven," Hamilton said. "I think we need to strike a balance to also include what the market tells us at this time."

Member Austin Rounds added "I would like to hear what Kevin has to say ... he apparently took it on when he thought he could do a lot more than he actually could do."

But Longo, Hamilton and the rest of the board were less forgiving when MacDonald attempted to gain back part of the bond money the town has so that he can finish the job.

"I've been 100 percent committed to the neighbors," MacDonald said. "If I haven't been 100 percent committed to the road it's because I've been 100 percent committed to the neighbors."

But Longo did not appear too interested in that side of the affair.

After soliciting comments from MacDonald, he essentially told the developer to skip details about residents and get to it and how he would meet the Sept. 30 deadline.

The first item on MacDonald's proposed schedule is granite curbing, which he said could be finished by July 3. But Tuesday, MacDonald asked the board if he could complete half the curbing and then receive that portion of the bond set aside for curbing, and then finish the project.

The board offered a resounding "no" in return.

"We're not in the business of subsidizing developments," Longo said.

Technically, all of the work a performance bond is issued for must be completed before the money is released, according to Longo. But he also indicated that he and the board would work with MacDonald in the interest of the developer and the residents. Longo said at the meeting that the board would likely release the curbing funds once the entire curbing job was complete - but he would not put that or anything else into writing, something MacDonald asked for.

Hamilton called it a "totally inappropriate request."

When pressed by Longo if he would still honor the schedule leading to completion by the Sept. 30 deadline, MacDonald declined comment, saying instead he would have to first consult with his bank and his attorney and "evaluate [his] finances."

"The schedule was based on those funds being partially released," he said. That statement was not concurred with by the planning board.

"It's obvious Kevin doesn't have the money to finish the road," Treasure Hill Road resident Michael McCoy offered at the meeting.

Finances is indeed the key issue, and Longo, for one, believes the money is there. But if Sept. 30 comes around and the road work is not done to the satisfaction of the board, Longo was blunt in the board's intentions.

"We would initiate seizure of the bond," he said following the meeting.

If the seizure was upheld legally, the money from the bond would then be used to put the remaining work out to bid. Any financial shortcomings after that would result in either uncompleted work or in residents picking up the leftover tab.

What does it take to get Chip Bruce to engage in physical labor? Simple. Just tell him it's for Wilmington kids. Wilmington's popular DARE Officer was busy helping Jack Holloway get the Wilmington Youth Center, in the basement of Villanova Hall, ready for its opening in the fall. Two nights of fireworks this year!

by Jeff Nazzaro

The Town of Wilmington and its year-round, hard-working 4th of July Committee is set once again to bring six days worth of the biggest U.S. birthday bash around to the Town Common beginning Thursday (June 29) night and highlighted by SPECTACULAR FIREWORKS on Monday, July 3.

Community spirit and national pride are the orders of the day, with plenty of great food, exhilarating athletic events, nightly concerts and carnival fun rounding out the menu.

Saturday will be Family Day, sponsored by the Rotary Club in commemoration of their 50th anniversary. A host of activities are planned concluding with an 8:30 p.m. Family Day fireworks display on the common.

The big fireworks will come Monday, but not before the long weekend's worth of red, white and blue fun.

Athletic events will include horseshoes, the basketball shootout and always hard-fought 3 on 3 tournament; the ladies 2-mile walk, the couples relay walk and the wicky-wacky hospital bed race.

Traditional Wilmington 4th fare will be available, too, beginning with the July 4th Chinese Dinner

Thursday, the Lions Club Lobster Bake Friday, the Rotary Texas BBQ Saturday, the K of C Roast Beef Supper Sunday and the Kiwanis Chicken BBQ Monday.

See the complete schedule on page 2 of the Fun on the Fourth '95 supplement in this newspaper (Family Day schedule on page 4) and join the town in celebrating the 4th.

The Wilmington 4th of July Committee is: Chairman Jim Stewart, Vice-Chairman Joan Searfoss, Treasurer Dave Hall, Secretary Phyllis Vieira, Dick Searfoss, Stewart Ring, Peggy Power, Tony Vieira, Bob Peterson, Tom Pazyra, Joan Maga, Kathi Gillis, Bob Ducey and Dennis DeMaggio.

Battle & parade Sunday Free outdoor concert Saturday

by Jeff Nazzaro

In the true spirit of colonial unrest, the Wilmington Minutemen will be setting up camp on the Town Common this weekend and invite all townspeople to join them in celebrating Liberty Pole weekend with music, fanfare and protest.

Minutemen under Captain Paul Nett will set up camp on the common Saturday, June 24 at 10 a.m., until 5 p.m. and will be back from 10-3 on Sunday. This colonial camp will feature colonial games, including those of the (toma)hawk and knife-throwing varieties.

Local colonials will be joined in camp by Minutemen companies from all over New England and will be tormented by the dreaded Red Coat imperialists.

But the encamped colonial fun will go on, leading up to a free, 18th century candle lit concert outside at Rotary Park. Residents are encouraged to bring a picnic dinner for the 8 p.m. show, which will feature Jim Douglas, of Sturbridge Village, and his wide array of colonial music on a variety of vintage instruments. The concert is sponsored by local developer Mark Lopez, of Universe Construction.

Following the concert, as is custom, the locals will be incited by the fiery anti-British rhetoric of an elected representative. This year, Sen. Bruce Tarr will do the honors, and, you can be sure, incite the Red Coats into making a few political arrests.

Sunday morning, the 9:30 service at the Congregational Church takes on a colonial flavor, as the Rev. Thomas Dean turns a fiery sermon loose upon the tyrannical Brits. This colonial-style service could produce some more controversy leading up to Liberty Pole festivities themselves.

At 2, Minutemen will make their way from camp on the common to Rotary Park for the erecting of the Liberty Pole in defiance of King George III. Revolutionaries will no doubt be accosted along the way, but the real trouble is sure to break out at the pole itself. Bring your best musket and enjoy the spirit and tradition of colonial and revolutionary America.

The Estremera girls were three of the nearly 200 Wilmington children who signed up for the summer reading program at the library Monday and Tuesday. Jennifer (10, standing), Melissa, 9, and Cindi (7, hiding behind Melissa) all signed the cricket country mural as their first step in the program, which is administered on a drop-in basis. See story, page 11 (photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Shawsheen Tech offers summer courses

Students from area public and private high schools can take advantage of a summer school program at Shawsheen Tech in July. Shawsheen features a condensed schedule to accommodate other summer plans. Both makeup classes for high school credit and enrichment classes are on the course list.

Summer school takes place July 10 to 28, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Session one classes run from 8 to 10:50 a.m. and include makeup courses in biology/health, English 9, English 12, US History, general business math, world history and algebra I and II. Session two classes run from 11:10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and include algebra, geography/social studies and geometry.

Enrichment courses

Shawsheen Summer School also offers two new enrichment courses. Basics of Composition (8 to 10:50 a.m.) is designed for the student interested in preparing for college level English by improving writing skills, and is open to any college bound person of high school age or older. Typing/Word Processing (11:10 a.m. to 2 p.m.) emphasizes individualized lessons in WordPerfect on IBM compatible computers in a self paced environment.

"We are running the program in fewer weeks than before to fit people's vacation schedules," said David Whalley, summer school coordinator. "The total number of hours in school remains the same as in previous years," he added. Attendance is "an important requirement for receiving credit in makeup classes. Only one absence is allowed; a tardy of 15 minutes or more counts as half an absence.

July 7 deadline

Cost is $125 per course, with a late fee of $20 for applications received after the noon, July 7 deadline. To obtain an application, call the school at 508-667-2111. Mail-in registration will be accepted until July 5. Walk-in registration takes place June 27 and 29 and July 5 and 7 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Mail completed application with the course fee(s) to David Whalley, Summer School Coordinator, Shawsheen Tech, 100 Cook St., Billerica, MA 01821-5499. Unless otherwise notified students are accepted; no confirmation will be sent.

Whalley noted that most courses will not run during both sessions and minimum enrollments are required. There is a 20 minute break between the two sessions. Students are responsible for transportation and must take their own snacks or lunch.

Rep. Miceli office hours

Rep. James R. Miceli has announced his monthly office hours for July on the following dates:

Wilmington: Monday, July 17 at 4A Colonial Park Mall from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Tewksbury: Tuesday, July 18, from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Tewksbury Town Hall.

Mill Brook HOP-N-ING

Youngsters from Mill Brook Country Day School in Wilmington recently hopped to help people with disabilities, raising $1132 in an Easter Seal Hop-n-ing.

The children spent a week learning about disabilities - what causes them, how disabilities effect people's everyday lives, the equipment used to cope. After that, they were ready to help.

Each child secured donations from family and friends for every hop performed during a three minute Hop-n-ing. The funds raised help provide Easter Seal services for men, women and children with disabilities.

Easter Seal services include summer camp, therapeutic swim programs, physical and occupational therapy, speech therapy, equipment loan, technology for independence, support groups for people recovering from strokes and information and referral services.

It's YOUR Money

LOOK FOR MORE THAN TAX SAVINGS

Tax savings are wonderful, but they are not the real goal of financial planning. Increasing net worth is the ultimate aim, and tax savings are only useful as they help us get there.

*Mortgage interest is deductible, but paying less in mortgage payments can leave you better off altogether. Consider a smaller house and smaller payments.

*Home equity loans are deductible, too; they can be helpful for large, important purchases or home improvements. But deductible borrowing is still borrowing that must be repaid. Make sure investments pay more than the interest you're paying.

*IRA accounts are by definition taxes; you owe no taxes until you withdraw money. You want the best return you can get safely. There's no benefit investing IRA money in tax-free municipals.

* Tax-free investments are a good deal for those in the higher tax brackets but not for those who are paying 15 percent, because yields are generally lower than for taxable investments.

What's worthwhile at your tax bracket? Talk it over with the tax people at

by George R. Allan

There is a software program on the market called SimCity 2000. You may not be familiar with it but your kids probably are. The basic premise of the program is to develop a working urban city from scratch. To do that it is necessary to respond to the ever changing conditions of city life. The simulation shows the benefits of good planning and the sometimes disastrous consequences of bad decisions. Unlike real life, you can bulldoze your mistakes. There is no one way to build the city. There are many different paths to accomplishing the goals of the citizens. In this regard, it mirrors real life.

While this is only a computer game, it is also educational. It gets you thinking about planning and some of the key issues facing a growing town.

Forgetting about the computer game, what activities would be given or should be given priority by a community? If we turned the clock back 100 years, what would we do differently knowing what we know now? Wilmington would probably not look like it does.

Maybe I am biased, but what I would do in developing a new community would be to first locate and develop my water supply. Since our wells are dependent upon the local geology, it is important that the areas of sand and gravel that would support a municipal well be protected from other activities. There is some latitude, for example, in siting residential and industrial areas. With our water supply, we are dependent upon what the glaciers did thousands of years ago.

The remaining development of the town would then evolve as the residents deemed appropriate. As might be expected, there will be differences. Communities usually develop a consensus plan of where they want to go. It is commonly referred to as a Master Plan.

The most recent Master Plan for Wilmington was completed in 1970. Times change and people change, and it is time to update the 25-year-old plan. Does anyone want to enter the next century with a game plan that was developed in 1970? What was important 25 years ago may not be important now. Wilmington is in effect a multi-million dollar corporation. Do you think the stockholders of a company would allow it to operate with a 25-year-old plan? The taxpayers are Wilmington's stockholders.

When some people hear the term Master Plan their eyes start to glaze over. Unfortunately, some of these eyes belong to a few members of our town boards.

Typical topics in a Master Plan include: open space, economic development, traffic, housing, zoning, industrial and residential growth, recreation, elderly housing and the environment. Pretty basic stuff. The kind of things everyone should take an interest in if they would like to help shape the town.

The 1970 Master Plan suggests we need "to try to influence change in an orderly fashion for the long range benefit of the whole community." The idea is to manage growth, not stop growth.

Growth and planning are ongoing. A town is never "finished." It needs to change and adapt in order to grow.

The Master Plan summarizes existing conditions, outlines the major issues facing the town and sets goals and policies to guide boards and citizens in making decisions. It should be a dynamic document. Not something that is put on the shelf and forgotten.

The Town has started a process to update the 25-year-old Plan. Its success depends on getting citizens involved. This is your community. Participate in how it will grow.

Like SimCity 2000, Wilmington 2000 will look to a great extent on how you direct it.

Jenks is an ancient name

by Capt. Larz Neilson

The Andover Road in Wilmington, together with Woburn and Eames Street are, perhaps, the oldest in this vicinity.

Andover came into existence on the sixth day of the third month of 1646. Cutshamache, whose title was Sagamore of Ye Massachusetts according to the Puritan lore, "came into ye corte" - the Colonial legislature on that day and acknowledged that, for the sum of six pounds and a coat which he had received he had sold to Mr. John Woodbridge, in behalf of the inhabitants of Cochiawick, now called Andover, all his right, interest & privilege in ye land six miles southward from the town, two miles to the Rowley bounds, be ye same more or less, northward to the Merrimack River - etc. etc.

The sale was confirmed. The record may be found in the Colonial records of Massachusetts.

Andover, about that time also included the present town of North Andover. Not heavily populated, by 1679 it had only 88 men (ratable polls).

To take their part in the government of Massachusetts they had to go south overland, over the Ipswich River and the Hundred Acre Meadow, which occupies a large track of land in Reading, North Reading and Wilmington, or go by boat down the Merrimack River and the coast of Massachusetts, to Boston. For the first few years, the men of Andover tried that, but the risk was too great. There were too many accidents.

Eventually the men of Andover cut through a road which included the present Andover Road, Woburn Street and Eames Street, in Wilmington. From that place they traveled south through Woburn and on to Boston.

It was not easy. In 1653 or thereabouts the people of Andover petitioned the legislature to have a bridge constructed over the Ipswich River.

Surprisingly the Court instructed the people of Reading to do so - and surprisingly, it was done. The Andover Road seems to have been in existence about the time the Harnden family moved into the area. There is no record, however. The men of Andover may have helped. It was in their interest to get to Boston. A roadway was constructed, and it still exists.

The roadway over the Ipswich was constructed, from the north to the south shore. It still exists, with new and old homes nearby.

A few years before 1700 a family named Jenks, or Jenkins lived on the south-west side of the roadway. That family owned land down stream, for perhaps a quarter of a mile or so.

If the home of the Jenkins (or Jenks) family was still in existence it would now be at (approximately) 411 Woburn Street, Wilmington.

It is from that family that the name of the bridge is derived - Jenks or Jenkins. Jenks Bridge - the name has existed almost 300 years.

Letters to the editor

Thanks for the support

Dear Larz:

We at the Wilmington Family Counseling Service appreciate greatly all the community support generously provided to us over the past couple of months.

Forced to move by the sale of one of our office condo units, we are most appreciative of Dick Stewart at Northeastern Development for rearranging his tenants to make a space for us at Heritage Common. We cannot thank enough Georgia Pacific, D&D Lock, and Verticals, Etc., for their donations which significantly reduced our remodeling expenses. A one time emergency donation from the United Way of Merrimack Valley and a special loan from the Lowell Five Cents Savings Bank made it possible to cover these unexpected relocation expenses.

Our grand opening celebration was made special by the ribbon cutting ceremony arranged by the Chamber of Commerce and the food donated by Hans Kissle. We could not have done it without them!

May and June also have been fund raising months in which we have been seeking funds to help subsidize the $65,000 in free mental health care we are providing in the community. Many thanks go out to Stillwater Gardens, the Town Crier, Rapid Reproductions, and Koch Membranes for sponsoring our bike tour. We send out an even greater thank you to the riders and board members who came out in the rain to support our cause.

We are in the midst of our annual Be-a-Friend Campaign as well. Our warmest appreciation to all in the community who have chosen to Be-Our-Friends by sending donations to help us on a local level prevent violence, strengthen families, reach out to adolescents who might otherwise run away or turn to drugs, and heal children who have been abused physically or sexually. Every child, teen, adult, and family we help become one of our silent successes who thankfully do not turn up in the statistics and the newspaper.

Wilmington is unique in funding its own agency which is a credit to the town and the community as a whole. All our silent successes thank you for giving us as a resource to them.

Thank for the ice

Dear Larz:

We would like to take this opportunity to extend our sincere appreciation to all the people and the businesses who contributed to the success of our recent fundraiser, "Joey and Maria's Italian Comedy Wedding."

Special thanks to: Rocco's Restaurant, The Shriners, Rapid Reproduction, Uptown Deli, Designs by Don, RMA Fitness Club, Larry's Oil, Carolyn Kenney and

Bobby Orr, and the many Wilmington Youth Hockey parents who showed their support for our cause.

Also, a very special thank you to the 13 varsity hockey players and Eric McKenna, who set up the function hall, served dinner, and cleaned up. We are very proud of all of you!!

Sincerely,
The Wilmington Hockey

Wilmington schools offer a rewarding experience

Dear Larz:

As we reflect back on another school year that has come to a close, we hope this will inspire other parents to write in about their positive school experiences. Our children attend Woburn Street School and North Intermediate School.

Ms. Conway is the principal at the Woburn Street and has achieved much for the school. Ms. Conway brought many donations into the school including computers and office furniture. This year the schools adopted a new science curriculum in the elementary grades. We experienced chemical tests and plant life in the third grade and ecosystems in the fifth. Our children came home excited every day about something new they had learned. We were privileged enough to have an ecosystem to take home. We can't say enough of how wonderful this hands on science program is. My fifth grader attended Nature's Classroom and had a fabulous time. The DARE Program instilled in them the knowledge of how to say no to drugs. We had a Social Studies Fair, Authors Night and Science Extravaganza. All of these were a reflection of the wonderful programs our children have available to them.

All of our children are involved in the band and we feel honored that our school system can offer such a program. Wilmington's Music Department stands head and shoulders above all others in the area, as evidenced by the participation and proficiency displayed in the marching and concert bands, Jazz band, the choirs, and the "Strings Attached." Ms. Mette and her staff do an outstanding job.

The Middle School had the pleasure of receiving a new principal, Mr. Anderson, at the North Intermediate School. He has been a wonderful asset to the school. Our eighth grader competed in a mock trial with other schools around Massachusetts. Other students participated in Junior Achievement and competed with high school students from around the world. Our seventh grader studied the Maya Indians with the help of the Internet, actually traveling with people on bikes in search of the Mayas. The sixth and seventh grades displayed their science projects one evening for parents, followed by an ice cream smorgasbord.

The Wilmington Educational Foundation was started this year and will benefit the our school system greatly. This opportunity allows our School Department, Businesses, and the Community to work together for our schools. We hope everyone receiving a packet will have the opportunity to send in their donation.

This just highlights a few of the wonderful programs that our children were involved in. We look forward to the high school with eager anticipation and hope this experience can be as rewarding and enjoyable as those we have already received.

Chris and Carol Neville

Stelio's Family Restaurant, 144 Lowell St • 658-9782

A reputation for good food is hard to get. A reputation for good food like Stelio's Restaurant is really hard to get. For years the best way to give directions to Wilmington to a resident of eastern Massachusetts has been: "Go to Stelio's..." and continue from there. It's more than just good food and plenty of it.

The Katsikis family started their restaurant in 1978 in the old Sunnyside building. Only weeks before, the previous owner lamented that it was impossible to run a successful restaurant in the old building. But the day Stelio's opened, it was impossible to get a seat. The line went outside, and around the corner. The seafood was fantastic!

After a fire gutted the building in 1980, a new restaurant was built with plenty of seating. Stelio's can now seat more than 100 hungry customers at a time.

The expansion brought a larger menu, too. You'll find Italian, Greek, seafood and American favorites, all at prices that will please you.

One of the best reasons to run a business in Wilmington is the quality of the employees you can hire. Stelio's has a staff of local people who, without a doubt, are the friendliest waitresses in the area. You get a real feeling of being at home, except you don't have to do the dishes! Many of the waitress have been there for years, seven, ten and even seventeen years!

Breakfast at Stelio's is a tradition for many local construction workers. You'll see the trucks as you drive in. Sundays, however, are different. The trucks are replaced by dozens and dozens of family cars. Thanksgiving

Your favorite waitresses -
Dolly, Gloria, Vicky, Laura, Joan and Dimetra

ing is another tradition. The Wilmington High School football team has breakfast there just before meeting Tewksbury on the field.

Make Stelio's your tradition. They are open Monday through Saturday 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sundays from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

"I'm in the service business," says Sandy Ford, owner of Sanda Equipment Sales. "Whether we sell it or fix it, we're still providing a service." That's the philosophy at this family-owned, John Deere dealership. Sandy, his wife Aurora, and their staff are happy to solve customers' problems, as well as sell them equipment.

This award-winning dealership (Sanda Equipment has been recognized by John Deere and received the 'Circle of Excellence' award for the past two years), services and sells the full line of John Deere equipment - tractors, lawn mowers, trimmers, chippers, the necessary accessories, and even toys and replicas. Their equipment carries a 2-year John Deere warranty, as well as a 30-day money back policy. If you're not satisfied with your Deere, bring it back for a refund or replacement. No hassle.

equipment. They're prompt and courteous and the shop offers free local pick-up and delivery. They will also work on brands other than John Deere, and recently have added Ryder Truck rentals as an additional service.

There are three seasonal sales campaigns run by John Deere. Winter brings "Best Buy," in the spring it's "Deere Season," and fall will get you "Snow Dough," on snow blowers. Watch for advertisements on these promotions in your newspaper or on radio.

Sanda Equipment Sales is located at 222 Andover Street, in Wilmington (at the corner of Andover St. and Rt. 125). They're open Monday thru Friday, - 8:00-5:30, and Saturday - 8:00-2:00.

REVITALIZING AN OLD LISTING
 Your home has been on the market for a while, and it is just not moving. What can you do to inject some extra energy into the listing?
 First, you should sit down and have a frank talk with your agent. He can give you some good feedback from prospective buyers as well as colleagues who have shown it. Does it look its best? Is it accessible to agents who may need to show it on short notice? Is the price in line with the rest of the market? Have you neutralized any decorating items that may be turning off buyers. Getting your home sold takes a close collaborative effort involving both you and your agent. While it's important that the property be marketed aggressively, the sellers must do their part to ensure that prospects see a home that is as appealing as it can be. If your home hasn't moved, make sure that you have clear communication with the listing broker so any ideas either of you have can be put into action to create results.
 For professional advice on buying or selling real estate, please drop by our office in The Starwood Building at 299 Main Street, or call us to 657-8444.

Part one in a series

Vacation idea: take the kids to a museum

by Jeff Nazzaro
 School is out, and along with the fact that "Please Drive Carefully" bumper stickers are again in season, restless kids once again dominate the landscape for the next oh, two-and-a-half months. Even for those fortunate enough to hit the beach, the New Hampshire lakes region or the Cape for a week or two, there is still a very lot of time remaining in which to keep kids entertained once the immediately local attractions lose appeal.

Fortunately for parents, we live in a region where there is lots to do in a relatively small area. Everyone knows about the amusement and water parks. But when those shelling out the admission and concession dollars are no longer amused at getting soaked, there still exists a wealth of significantly less expensive, and in fact rewarding, nearby activities to indulge in.

Museums abound. But while your 12 year old might not be impressed by the MFA's Monets, Boston offers plenty of culturally enriching, interesting and fun exhibits for children.

One favorite is the Children's Museum in Boston, where a summer-long exhibit called Brain Games is holding court.

While Brain Games looks like an amusement park arcade, with life-sized chess and checkers, a giant spinning room, a 40-foot-long Frisbee-throwing alley, skee ball, computer games, lottery machines and more, the fun environment encourages kids to use their brain power as they encounter familiar games.

While this is going on, the museum has a complete July calendar featuring Nickelodeon TV personalities and a chance for kids to participate in certain "slimy" Nick game shows stunts (July 7-8 and 14-15). July 28-29 comes the POGS Milkcaps Tournament, with competitions for kids under 8 and age 9 and older. Pogman will be there, and POGS seem to be more plentiful than mosquitoes, so it must be a good time. Admission is only $6 for kids and senior citizens, and a buck more for adults. The museum, located on Congress Street at Museum Wharf, near Faneuil Hall, can be reached at (617) 426-8855.

While there, the Computer Museum, with its large, hands-on displays, is a great way to introduce (or rather, heighten) children's awareness of computers, their history and vast future. The Computer Museum's information line is (617) 423-6758.

And there's always loads to do at the Museum of Science, which features over 400 participatory exhibits. The Omni Theatre there is an experience in and of itself and as such is very popular - reservations are recommended for these four-story-projected educational and exciting films. Call (617) 723-2500.

Of course, there are a ton of attractions in and around Boston, from museums to the historic Freedom Trail, and the Greater Boston Convention & Visitors Bureau would be glad to tell you all about it (or at least they should be). Their phone number is (617) 536-4100. They might even tell you about the Charles River Museum of Industry's 2nd Annual Great New England Steam Expo, Sept. 30-Oct. 1, when the Charles River will be taken back to the 1800s and dotted with steam-powered vessels.

Even closer to home, the Lowell National Historical Park is open daily and boasts boat and trolley tours, an operating 1920s weave room, a "mill girl" boardinghouse, and interactive family programs.

Guided tours, which originate from the park's visitor center in downtown Lowell, offer an interesting, educational vehicle for discovering the cradle of America's industrial heritage.

Ranger-led excursions include the Harnessing the Merrimack Tour, which takes visitors along the Pawtucket Canal through Guard Locks and onto the Merrimack River - the power source for Lowell's textile industry; the Pawtucket Canal Tour - travel by foot, trolley and boat to the Francis Gate and Guard Locks on the Pawtucket Canal. The locks demonstrate the city's methods for providing transportation, controlling water and holding back floods, all in one location; the Run of the Mill Tour, a walk to the Suffolk Mill to see a working 19th century turbine and an operating power loom. This 90-minute tour ends with a trolley ride to the Boot Cotton Mills Museum.

The price is definitely right for all Lowell National Historical Park activities, ranging from $3 for adult tours to free, in many instances. Kids tour for a buck at most.

And from July 28-30, the biggest free folk festival in the U.S. comes in the form of the Lowell Folk Festival, featuring traditional music and dance, craft demonstrations, street parades, dance parties and ethnic foods. Info on park offerings can be obtained by calling (508) 970-5000.

And how does "Architectural Gems of Jamaica Plain" sound for enticing those kiddies away from the Sega games? Well, for the older crowd anyway, Boston By Foot offers a tour-a-month of the Hub for education, relaxation and even a little exercise.

The Jamaica Plain tour through the beautifully preserved architecture of the Pondsides and Summer Hill neighborhoods is on tap for June 25, while on July 30 Boston By Foot guides sight-seers through the city's newest area of development: Fort Point Channel. And on August 27 it's "A Summer Stroll of East Cambridge," one of the area's most dynamic multi-ethnic neighborhoods ... leading up to Labor Day's "Big Foot" tour, "Tracing the Colonial Shoreline."

Admission fees for the Boston By Foot program are $8-10 and more information can be obtained by dialing (617) 367-2345.

And that's just a little Boston and some Lowell; there's still Cape Ann, the South Shore, western Mass... It's just a question of figuring out when to do it, and then to do it.

Next week: Cape Ann

Library reading program Children's room fills summer void

by Jeff Nazzaro
A frog croaked three times Tuesday afternoon in the children's section of the Wilmington Memorial Library, and, while in some ancient civilizations that would have signified a monarchical ascension, in Wilmington it meant that three more children had signed up for the town's summer reading program, "Reading is Natural."

The froggy stamp, which marks new members' reading folders with a swampy call of the wild, has croaked almost 200 times to date for children ranging in age from three to 13. Sign-ups for the reading program began Monday and will last throughout the summer in two categories: readers and pre-readers. Children's Services Librarian Eileen Broderick has prepared a "multimedia extravaganza" featuring not just animal sounds, but nature views, a tree display and small creatures in displays, books and filmstrips.

Continuing a Wilmington tradition, Susan MacDonald, Children's Room Artist-in-Residence and assistant children's services librarian, has thematically decorated the children's room and adapted the "Reading is Natural" kits for readers and pre-readers.

The kit for school-age children contains a butterfly to decorate for the children's room nature display, a "Reading is Natural" reading log and bookmark, a schedule of rubber stamps used to record library visits, an overall program description, several activity sheets, a booklist and coupons for various drawings to be held over the summer.

Pre-readers get "Read to Me" folders, which will include a caterpillar to decorate, a log for charting books read to them, a bookmark, activity sheets, booklist and a listing of filmstrip programs planned for the summer.

Filmstrips on nature themes will be shown at the library on a drop-in basis on Mondays at 10:30 beginning July 10 to the end of the month. Other programs include a nature craft and story time for ages 5-8, the "Readcyclers" (ages 9 and up) jr. book review club hosted by Broderick, and August movies for school-agers.

"The purpose of the summer reading program is to encourage children to have fun reading and to keep up their skills over the long summer vacation," Broderick said.

Call the library's children's department at 658-2967 for more information, or better still, stop by and sign your kids up for "Reading is Natural" - and make that frog croak.

Stone's in the Garden

"Zone, Microclimate and Weather"

by Jackie-Leszczak Stone

This column is coming direct to you from a subtropical paradise; the steamy, zone 8, climate of coastal South Carolina. I came here, on vacation, to enjoy the warm ocean water (83°) and to visit several of the magnificent, formal plantation gardens.

Rather than instill immediate envy, at the palm trees, oleanders and crape myrtle trees, that bloom here, my vacation has prompted me to ponder the continuity of climate, local weather conditions (micro climate) and the challenges that every gardener faces.

The USDA Hardiness Zone Map is published in almost every garden book and catalogue. However, the information provided by this map tells only a small part of the climate story. It only defines the average minimum temperature for a given location. It does not tell us anything about the weather, rainfall, humidity, soil conditions, plant requirements, or micro-climate.

For example, my Tewksbury garden appears to sit on the border between USDA Zones 5 and 6. Experience (and many dead plants) has taught me, that my microclimate is a cold zone 5. The USDA map also defines Chicago, eastern Colorado and parts of central Nevada as Zone 5. Heaven knows that these areas don't share the same weather as Tewksbury. The map tells us only that we share an average minimum temperature range (-10°F to -20°F).

Here, near Charleston S.C., in Zone 8, the average minimum temperature ranges from 10°F to 20°F. South Carolina shares Zone 8 with a huge area of the moist, humid south as well as with western Oregon and western Washington State. Again the weather in these areas is vastly different. The cool, moist, temperate climate in western Oregon is nothing like the hot, humid summers in the southeast. However the minimum temperature, defined by Zone 8 is common to these areas.

When moving to a new area, gardeners learn from local garden centers, books, neighbors and fellow gardening friends, but each garden is an experiment in progress. What I learned growing up in eastern New Jersey, Zone 7, does not (obviously) hold true for the Merrimack River Valley. But even our Cape Cod shares Zone 7, due to the warm ocean currents. I have even tried a few Zone 7 plants, with modest success, by placing them in protected location such as against warm rock walls.

Here in Charleston, summer is well advanced. Fresh corn, tomatoes and watermelons are being picked. The Rose of Sharon is already long past its bloom here. Our Rose of Sharon will bloom in late July to September in Tewksbury. The blues and pinks of hydrangeas that are most often florist plants for us, flourish in every shady garden here. And the exotic calla lily and colorful cannas, which we must lift every winter and start indoors to induce early bloom, are perennial in gardens here.

I do admit envy at evergreen oleanders (Rosebay) with their red to white blossoms. These six to 10 foot plants are used as foundation plants here. Lantanas which we use as annual hanging baskets are rapidly spreading, flowering ground cover here.

And my admiration for the stately Live Oaks covered with Spanish Moss and for the Crape Myrtle, that blooms on city streets all summer, like an ever blooming lilac tree, is only wishful thinking in New England.

But with warmer climates comes weeds that grow faster than you can pull them and scorching summer days that keep you out of the garden. So I will pass on the scent of jasmine and camelia in my garden. I have learned about my microclimate, my weather, and my small plot of soil. And I have learned to enjoy it. Zone 8 is nice to visit, but Zone 5 is home.

Robert Magaldi (seated), a Merrimack College Cooperative Education student and resident of Wilmington, demonstrates his computer expertise to (standing from left) Ken Olivolo and John Wholey of AT&T, and Merrimack Professor Daniel O'Brien. AT&T donated to Merrimack the lab's 21 multimedia computers, a laser printer and a modem, valued at a total of $100,000. The computers, which will be used by engineering students at Merrimack, illustrate the long association that AT&T (first as Western Electric) and the college has enjoyed. Merrimack's engineering courses were established because of the need for continuing education for employees of Western Electric and other area engineering companies. The college continues to conduct a late afternoon engineering program, attended by many AT&T employees who are pursuing degrees.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

ESCAPE FIRE SAFELY

QUESTION: Do you have any advice on how to prepare a family to escape a home fire safely?

ANSWER: Plan two escape routes for everyone. The first should be the easiest, most logical way. The second is the emergency exit when hallways and stairwells are blocked by smoke or fire. This exit is most likely to be through a bedroom window. If windows are on the second floor or higher, buy rope or chain ladders that can be lowered to the ground and keep them handy.

Decide on a meeting place outside so you'll know when everyone is out. Equip your home with smoke detectors for advance warning and a safer escape.

ONE WAY to help your family escape a home fire is to have two escape routes for every member.

Wilmington senior topicsCholesterol screenings

Two of the leading causes of cardiovascular disease are high cholesterol levels and unhealthy diets.

Nurse Ann will be giving cholesterol screenings in the medical room at the Senior Center Tuesday morning, June 20 at 9:30 a.m. with the first day of summer the next day, it would be to your benefit to have your cholesterol level checked. This is good advice if you are one of many seniors who had previous cholesterol screenings of 200 or over or a senior who has already had bypass surgery. The test takes only a few minutes. A cholesterol screening in a hospital takes some time and will be very expensive. At the center it will cost only $5. Money to pay for the material used to take the test. The test, development and reading is all done by the nurse free of charge. She will send you the results in a few days. If it is too high she will advise you to have your doctor check it again. If it is good, she will tell you.

Unhealthy diet

The unhealthy diets that lead to cardiovascular disease can be corrected by attending our excellent nutrition class. The next class will be held Tuesday June 27, in the craft room starting at 10 a.m. We are happy to see so many of our seniors taking care of their health. They are learning all they can about the food they eat and how to cook it. Many of us eat and cook food that is causing serious coronary heart disease and strokes, known as cardiovascular disease. Don't worry about not knowing anyone in the class. The seniors in the class and their instructor are very friendly, all seeking the same goal "to live healthy and happy lives."

The craft room is a large room that can hold all seniors men and women who want to have help knowing what foods to eat and how to cook them with little or no fats. They also need support from other seniors to remain on a prescribed diet. Remember all the seniors in the program want the same help you want. Don't wait, join the class next Tuesday, it is free to all Wilmington residents 60 and over. If you joined this type of nutrition support group in a hospital, it will not be free. We want you to stay healthy.

Dancers

Our dancers have been invited to perform again. This time it will be at the AIM weekly social Tuesday, June 27. Our dance class is the greatest, but remember you have to come in every Thursday afternoon and learn all the dances until the dance instructor sees that you are good enough to perform without mistakes. Then you are invited to perform with the dance team. I can tell you, this class of 25-30 students enjoy every minute of their two hour class every week.

Someone living alone?

We have many seniors who are living alone most of the time. Children may drop by now and then and take them out for an hour or just visit with them. We may have a homemaker, visiting nurse and a meal delivered to them, but being in advanced age living alone, having lost all their friends of many years, becomes very depressing. Any senior who would like to become a friend to one of these seniors should talk to Margaret Keady. Margaret knows many of these seniors as our respite care servicer, she takes them to medical appointments day after day and knows how lonely they are. Margaret told me she would love to have some of our younger seniors adopt one of these advanced aged seniors living along as their friend. No one knows how happy it makes you feel, when you take a lonely senior shopping, or to lunch and most importantly, make a visit, become their friend, whom they will know will be calling them if only to talk about what is going on in the world.

Under ten girls soccer team brings home championship cup

With a perfect season's record, the Wilmington Girls Under 10-C soccer team traveled to Woburn June 17 and 18 to vie for the Commissioner's Cup.

Superb team work and incredible heart and spirit brought the division cup home to Wilmington. Congratulations to all the girls!

In Saturday's first game, the girls faced off against Burlington for the Division IV A championship and came u with winners' medals in a 2-0 match.

In the first minute of the game the Wildcats offense blew by Burlington and Caitlin McNabb pocketed a sweet goal off a pass from Ashley Steenbruggen.

Despite many Wilmington scoring opportunities, notably by Dawn DeRosa and Christina Tocci, Burlington's goal keeping and defense held the line. Not until halfway through the second half did Wilmington score again.

In a drive up from midfield, Ashley Steenbruggen drilled the ball past the keeper for the last goal of the game. Wildcat defense thwarted the opponents with exceptional contributions by Kara Bruce, Celine DeMaggio and keeper Vanessa Marsh.

Later that afternoon, the Wilmington C and D teams paired up with this C team coming up winners, 5-0.

In the first half, Teresa DeSimone netted a goal off a pass from Jackie Rideout. In the next play, Kristen Burns blasted a penalty shot past the keeper. To end the first half, Julia Leverone scored with a drive from defense, lofting the ball over the keeper.

In the second half, Andrea Athanassiou and Jackie Rideout poured on tremendous offensive pressure, each scoring a goal.

The championship game on Sunday ended in a 1-0 Wilmington win over a tough Lincoln team. The Wildcats intense offensive pressure yielded many scoring threats and two goals against a fine Lincoln defensive effort.

Caitlin McNabb booted in the first goal early in the game, while Ashley Steenbruggen netted the final goal in the last five minutes.

Offensive lines comprised of Jackie Rideout, Dawn DeRosa, Teresa DeSimone, Andrea Athanassiou and Christina Tocci showed off their speed and solid passing skills.

Keeper Vanessa Marsh and the outstanding defense quarter of Kara Bruce, Kristen Burns, Celine DeMaggio and Julie Leverone completely shut down the opponent's offense.

Henry has his own bag of tricks

by James Pote

I decided to make a short list of what teams like Billerica or Lexington have to go up against, when they play Bishop Fenwick in the division one state softball tournament that is currently going on as we speak.

- a six-time division one state champion.
- a shortstop named Colleen Parker, who acts like a Hoover vacuum cleaner.
- three of the four Lyman daughters.
- and a team who has more tricks than David Copperfield himself.

Ah yes, the tricks. Where does that come from? The genius, or as everyone else calls him, the softball God - that is of course, is Bishop Fenwick's head coach Ed Henry.

I have seen many softball teams and the styles of play they use - and no one comes anywhere close to the style of coaching that this man does!

Not to take anything away from Henry, the school or its past and present players, but the Catholic Central Division is no where near the caliber of play of the Merrimack Valley Conference or even the Middlesex League. It's also true that Bishop Fenwick can recruit the best players from around the area. But, have you ever seen a pitch out called with runners at second and third - and they get the runner out? I have. That's dynamite coaching.

That kind of play calling is what makes this team the dynasty team that they are. The Crusaders have strung up an amazing mark of 32 straight tournament victories. A major reason for that success is because of Henry's tricks. I don't want to give any of his tricks away, because the team is still battling it out for another state title, but I have never seen a coach dominate a game the way he does.

If you haven't already caught one of their games, you should see the way Henry positions his players. Or you should see the situations in which he has his players bunt, steal, slap hit, and pitch out. He also makes sure his players have a batting glove in each hand when they are on base so they won't cut up their hands when they slide. Another one of his tactics is making right handed hitters become left handed hitters because it's easier to get down the first base line with the extra step most especially on bunts and slap hits.

There have been teams that have had better talent than Bishop Fenwick - but their coaches have no idea what they are doing.

The objective of the game of high school softball besides having the great pitching, defense and hitting is to bunt, bunt and bunt even more - to steal a base here and there - and to force the other teams to make mistakes. And when you see coaches not having their players bunt when they are down by a run in the last inning with no outs, then you have to wonder what kind of coaches these people are? Simple answer: terrible coaches.

It certainly shows in high school sports that no matter how much talent there is on a team, a team will not go anywhere without the proper coaching. I have seen many examples of that. But, a team can also not have that much talent and go along way because of its coaching. I have seen many examples of that - case in point, Ed Henry with Bishop Fenwick.

If you ask any of Ed Henry's past and current players about their coach, they don't have enough words to describe what a person he is - nevertheless what kind of a coach he is.

If someone looks up the word "coach" in the dictionary, a picture of Ed Henry is right next to it. Yes, he is that good.

Rarely do you ever see a coach who is that knowledgeable and that much fun to watch. If you get a chance to go see Bishop Fenwick play, I suggest you do so. It's well worth the trip.

During the heat and humidity of the summer, it is important to remember that our body needs help to remain adequately hydrated. We lose lots of fluid while participating in summer activities. Drinking alcoholic beverages actually speeds the loss of water, by increasing urination.

Drink plenty of "nature's thirst quencher", water, to keep your body healthy and functioning at its best this summer - and all year 'round.

Walsh has fine season

Brian Walsh, of Wilmington, and a senior, was an assistant captain of the Bentley Hockey team.

He was just recently presented the "Mucker Award," which is presented to a player who works hard, stops shots with his body, goes into the corners, and in other words, does whatever is necessary.

Walsh finished a very successful season and career with two goals and four assists as a defenseman.

Marty Tildsley completes fourth game for the Phillies

Junior baseball Phillies 6 Braves 2

The Phillies capitalized on some Braves errors in the first inning to score four runs to get the 6-2 victory in Wilmington Junior Division baseball of this past week.

Carl Giongregorio lead the Phillies attack with a single and a triple. Ryan O'Donnell did a good job behind the plate. Brian LeBlanc went the distance and pitched a gritty game.

The Braves had an eight hit attack. Steve Perry and Mark Haubner each had two hits. John O'Neil and Rob Perkins had run producing singles. Marty Tildsley went the distance, allowing just one earned run. This was Marty's fourth solid complete game effort.

Minor League Mets 18 Indians 14

The Mets won an exciting come from behind victory over the Indians. The Mets were led by strong pitching from Ryan Tildsley and solid hitting from Matt Smith's three run homer, John Dell'anno and Jon Fowler.

The Indians were led by Guzinski with pitching and good defense by Bell, Berry and Holtz.

Blue Jays vs A's

Led by the aggressive base running of Phil Colombari, the A's rallied in the bottom of the sixth inning to squeak out a win.

Playing well for the Blue Jays were Dennis DiCenso and Brian Aldrich.

Doing a nice job for the A's both at bat and in the field were Jacob Watroba, Brendan Callinan and Matt Porter.

Farm League Padres 15 Braves 14

Padres continued their undefeated season by beating a strong Braves team. The Braves pulled out all the stops with a triple play started by Mike Gore and two homers from Peter Oliveri. Strong hitting by Victor Dellisola and good fielding from Rob Riccio still wasn't enough to beat a determined Padres team.

Great fielding plays by Derek Montalto and Kenny Luongo helped hold off the Braves. Solid hitting from all the Padres, especially Jared Nims, Tim Anderson and Jay Cinilla put the Padres over the top.

Braves vs Rockies

The Braves won a slugfest Thursday night. They were led on offense by Robbie Gillis with four hits and Matt MacEachern, Robbie Riccio and Brendan Strem who had three hits apiece.

The Rockies were led on offense by Mike Donato and Chris Lepore with three hits each and on defense by Eric Scammon and Mike MacPherson!

Phillies 24 Rockies 18

Strong hitting by Derrick Concannon and Ryan Connolly along with stellar defense by Doug Trangiese and Kevin Paris led the Phillies over the Rockies who had strong offensive performances by Dan Sprague and Brian Dalton and strong defense by Peter Barry and Tim Spracklin.

Blue Jays 7 Giants 6

Chuckie Courtois' bottom of the sixth one out single drove in Eric DiFava for the Blue Jays winning run in this hard fought defensive struggle with the Giants.

Travers Peterson three for three with two doubles led the way for the Jays offense. While Kevin Pizzotti and Anthony Azvedo anchored the left side of the Jays infield.

For the Giants, Richie Buckley and Mark Giordano combined for half the Giants hits including three big doubles. Mark Pickett and Mark Hodder kept this one close with outstanding defensive plays in the field.

Blue Jays 11 Angels 7

The flashy defensive play of the Jays Joey Caira, Tim Madden and Danny Tanzella held the high flying Angels at bay while the hot bats of Kevin Pizzotti and Anthony Azvedo powered the offense with three hits and three runs apiece.

Scott Rivers (two hits), Kevin Velardo (three hits) and Derek Liberty (two hits) and great games at the plate for the Angels. Matt David's outstanding defensive play helped keep this one a nailbiter to the very end.

Padres 19 Blue Jays 14

With the bases loaded and no outs in the bottom of the sixth, Rich Byron and Andy Bamberg came up with some spectacular defensive plays to hand the Blue Jays their first loss of the season.

Offensively Derek Montalto and Brandon Kelly each had a double and triple to lead the barrage for the Padres.

Dan Cwiekowski, three for three runs scored and Joey Caira, three for three with for rbi's led the way for the Blue Jays. Kevin Foley and Jono Gravelle kept the Jays in the game with super defensive plays.

Major baseball Angels 6 Rockies 5

Angels came from behind to beat the Rockies. Pitching a great game for the Rockies was Colleen Cahill, striking out nine of the Angels. Lauren Crowley, Jill Couto and Michelle Cronin played a great game in the field.

Angels Krista Persson and Tina Falanga had key plays in the field to hold the Rockies Candace Sousa had a good game earning two runs for the Angels with Katelyn Sughrue scoring the winning run.

White Sox 5 Tigers 4

Jason Stark's sixth inning, two out single drove in the winning Sox run in this exciting well played game. Mike Montalto and Andrew Campbell pitched well for the Sox, while Chris Isberg made a great fielding play in left field. The other offensive standouts for the White Sox were Steve Ciulla, Ryan Moroney, Campbell and Montalto (two hits).

The Tigers received fine pitching from Josh Hilde and Scott Buck, while Dan Ausco made some fine plays at shortstop too. The Tiger offense came from the bats of Andy Hackett, Joe Ramo and Aloco.

Yankees 11 Orioles 6

In a game which had the two Rose brothers going against each other, older brother Chris for the Yankees came out on top. Chris was the starting pitcher for the Yankees going four innings before giving way to David Rappoli.

Chris allowed the Orioles six runs, four hits and 5 k's. Dave Rappoli pitched two strong innings in relief by striking out five and walking two.

Dave came into the fifth with two men on, walked the first batter and struck out the next two and got the third batter to pop to second, giving up no runs in the fifth.

Hitters for the Yankees were Mark Krasnaszky with three solid hits, Steve Brown had two hits and Chris Rose had two doubles to go along with his strong pitching. Bobby French and Kyle Burns each scored two runs for the Yanks. Timmy Hogg played another strong game in the field.

The Orioles Howlett pitched all six innings, striking out eight Yankee batters.

The first three batters in the Oriole lineup all had hits. Gaudet and Cannon each with one, while pitcher Howlett had two long dobles. Roberts and Hartiman were also on base twice for the Orioles.

In the brother battle, younger brother Tim Rose thought he took his older brother deep but a nice catch by Yankee David Gravesin right caught up with the sinking lines. In Tim's second at bat he grounded to short. For today, older brother Chris got the upper hand.

Major Softball Mariners vs Rockies

Bulldogs gave an all out effort. Hard work and relentless pressure from Brennan Jones and Daniel Tobin yielded several good scoring chances. In the second half, strong defense by Mike Earls and Ken Aruda helped close the door on a strong opponent. Macho Men goalies Jim Murray, Gery Gagne and Mike Sorrentino closed up the net to all attempts. Shaun Doherty played well all around, while Jimmy DaSilva and Stephen Potcner lit up the scoreboard.

SMOKIN GUNS VS POWER & GLORY

Smokin Guns were on target with the rushing force of Jeff Youngclaus, Eric Svensson, Matthew Murphy and P.J. Russo, leading to a pair of goals by Ray Gravallesse. A near shutout by keepers Mark Bernardo and Bryan Raposa rounded out a great game. Power & Glory keeper Steven Stokes was unbeatable in goal and scored as well. Matthew Phaup and Billy Schultes made great saves, keeping it very close. Steve DiTullio and Rocco Puccio played tight defense. The whole team really played well, with good passing and true team spirit.

BUSHWACKERS VS NATURAL DISASTERS

Two exciting halves were played by Bushwackers goalies Stephen Ogilvy and Robbie McKinnon. Matthew King's aggressive style at forward highlighted the offensive attack. The Natural Disasters offense proved disastrous to their opponents when Brian Cairra and Sean Murphy, aided by Andrew Fish, booted home multiple shots. Chris Crosby and Nick Manent were perfect in net, behind stalwart defender Brandon Gibson.

GIRLS GRADE 2 & 3 EMERALDS VS OPALS

Emerald forward Sarah McGowan showed excellent ball control as she scored her first goal of the season. Jennifer Earls added another score to the total, while teammates Jill Olson, Andrea Gomez, Krista Bromley and Amalia Aruda played with skill and tenacity. The Opals responded with outstanding goaltending by Alicia Braid and Sarah Jackson, as well as tremendous defense by Kate Jordan and Michaela Rousseaux. Strong play in both directions by Christina DaSilva led to Kelley Sweeney's sweet goal.

PEARLS VS DIAMONDS

Pearls keepers Sara Tang and Kerri Porter were standouts in net. Brittany Walsh and Kristina Smith hustled up and down field setting up some beautiful opportunities. Back and forth action, and determination led to Jenna Patterson's goal for the Diamonds, supported by Melissa Marques. Defensive power was provided by Julie Martell and Ashley Robarge, while keepers Katie Martell and Elizabeth Siracusa proved they owned the net.

RUBIES VS GARNETS

Nicole Lancione and Kristen Joaquim set the Rubies' offense breakneck pace, while Katherine Chin and Danielli Pitman admirably controlled the midfield. Katelyn Kasko's defensive moves were mind-boggling! The Garnets played a fiery game in blazing heat. Jordan Lawier sparred the offense with a gorgeous goal and Stephanie Ramsdell glamed as well. Kate Bresnahan and Ashley McGrath blew away all opposing shot.

BOYS GRADE 2 & 3 RUNNIN REBELS VS WOLVERINES

Starring on defense, Ryan Jeanette dismantled the opponents offensive attacks, and keeper Jack McDonough saved the rest. Nick Barrett, Kyle Patrie and Charlie Broussard produced the hustle required to spring forward Matthew Stewart free and score on a bullet. Wolverine goalie Sean Burns did a phenomenal job covering the net, supported by the superb field coverage of Devin Kelley. The offense bolted upfield and posted scores on the lightning shots of Kyle Brown, Eric Ollila, Mark Giordano and Guthrie Gorden.

HUSKIES VS BUCKEYES

The Huskies battled the heat and the opposition, with an all around fantastic team effort. Mike Adams was truly exceptional, highlighting a tight match. Greg Zanni took the ball on breakaways to post scores for the Buckeyes, helped by the excellent field work of Rich Tuck. Ed Kaufmann, Mike Hackett and Mike Cullen played indescribably marvelous defense, in front of Anthony Azevedo's tough netminding.

HURRICANES VS EAGLES

The Hurricanes stormed the opponents' goal, posting thunderous scores off the boots of Michael Damplo, Sean Collier and Tim Ryan. Michael MacPherson and Brian Frongillo turned in excellent field performances, while Ray Bennett tended the net skillfully. Brian Little of the Eagles booted in a bullet, continuing last weeks scoring blitz. Tony Hogan worked the ball upfield and scored another. Mike Scaduto, Jonathan Langone and Andrew Hecht swept the midfield clean, with Brad Hodgson doing superb work in net.

CRUSADERS VS MOUNTAINEERS

Crusader defenseman Tommy Walsh played an awesome game at sweeper in front of the super netminding of Richie Cummings. Adam McCauley, Andrew Mondri and Dan Farrell kept the pressure on in the offensive zone. The Mountaineer forwards climbed all over the opponents with excellent teamwork and hustling ball movement. Pat Schofield, Joe Morello, Ted Morang, Derek Montalto and Brian Bolger reached the summit, planting the ball in the net. Derek and Brian also played excellent defense, while keeper Dan Jamerson stopped several hard shots.

COED GRADE 4 & 5 CELTICS VS MAGIC

Putting the Green on the scoreboard, Dave Aronofsky, Jason Gustin and Graham Pazzziorko found the net with strong boots. Aggressive defensive play by Cindy Craig and Jennifer Rogers, and super net tending by Derek Tynan kept the opponents at bay. Summer finally arrived and with it the Magic's offensive skills. Steffanie Strazzere and Shena Wagner, both with lightning speed, nipped at the Celtics and moved the ball forward. Aarón Ungvarsky booted home a blistering goal, while defenders Jenna Jordan and Jackie Martin, and keeper Jordan Ungvarsky stonewalled the opposing team. This was truly an entertaining match as the Celtics and Magic gave their opponents' goalies a workout.

ROCKETS VS BULLS

Janessa Mutchler performed admirably in goal for the Rockets, supported by Kerri Tendyke and Christine McInerney on defense. Dave Brogan and Christine Shukis put the ball in the net, when Billy McGarry and Kristin Mannone opened up the offensive zone. The Bulls' Kristin Sauve could not be distracted by the opposition, and covered the defensive zone decisively. Danielle Cormier and Heather Roberts both scored, while James Brooks provided a beautiful assist. Ryan Patrie applied the big boot, and scored in the last minute of the game.

HORNETS VS KNICKS

Eric Miexler led the forward attack, buzzing the opponents, and creating several opportunities. Steven Hunter sent in a stinging goal for the Hornets, while Kristin Kanter's defense and Jimmy Jordan's goaltending were right on target. The Knicks must have been fueled by the heat and sunshine, as they produced an amazing offensive attack. With both individual skill and great teamwork, John Bavota, Patrick Reardon, Jacob Watrobs, Ryan Thibodeau and Brian Martiniello all booted home goals.

One father remembered

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

"Today is Daddy's birthday, and I want to tell you some of the things Dad did for Sylvia and me when we were kids," writes Evelyn to her brother Les. "I think I am the only one who remembers him as a wonderful Dad."

Les York - 80-something - is known throughout this area for his dedication to the Retired Men's Club of Wakefield, the "young people" of Reading and his wife Irene.

When Town Meeting needs a conscience, he speaks up.

When the Reading High students needed an advisor for a Students Against-Drunk Driving chapter, he and his wife Irene stepped forward.

He is a Boy Scout District Coordinator, proud of his 79 Eagle Scouts and his uniform; proud of his country, town and family; proud of his 13 great-grandchildren.

A role model for all ages, he never misses the chance to say - or write - something good about someone, and to quickly say thank you for a job well done.

In fact, he absolutely will not say anything bad about anyone. "Criticism," he says, "comes cheap."

And courage is part of the York tradition.

"Our mother was sick for most of her 42 years," he says, of the letter from his sister Evelyn York Bean of Wolfeboro, New Hampshire, a letter which he has thoughtfully chosen to share with the community as he celebrates Father's Day - as a father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and the child he once was.

"Our mother died of cancer," he says simply, "and this letter tells the story of my father's goodness."

"Our father," continues Evelyn, "never got any credit for the good care he gave to Sylvia and me or for any of the other things he did for other people."

"When Mama was sick, he moved a cot by the kitchen stove to keep her warm and sat up all night to keep the stove going. He would take two chairs, put them in front of the oven and wrap Sylvia and me in a blanket and tell us stories and read to us. I never remember Mama reading to us."

"When it was warm enough, he would play the piano and we would sing hymns. He had a real good voice. I can remember one day I was sick and he hauled another cot into the kitchen for me and covered me with blankets. When I had the whooping cough, he was the one who sat up with me and kept some kind of candle going."

"Dad used to go out on calls with Dr. Cotton to help pay for Mama's medical bills. I can remember Dr. Cotton calling him at one or two o'clock in the morning besides many other times in the cold, snowy winters. When it was really cold and Dad had made enough money shoveling snow, he would come home with a 30- or 40-pound bag of coal that he had carried all the way home from town. I guess Mama was unable, but he got all the meals, did housework and took care of us kids, and her, too."

"Even when Mama wasn't sick, he always washed windows, washed the floor ... yet I never remember a cross word or complaining."

"I just wanted to give Dad some credit like I said and to share it with someone who would appreciate him when he was Dad."

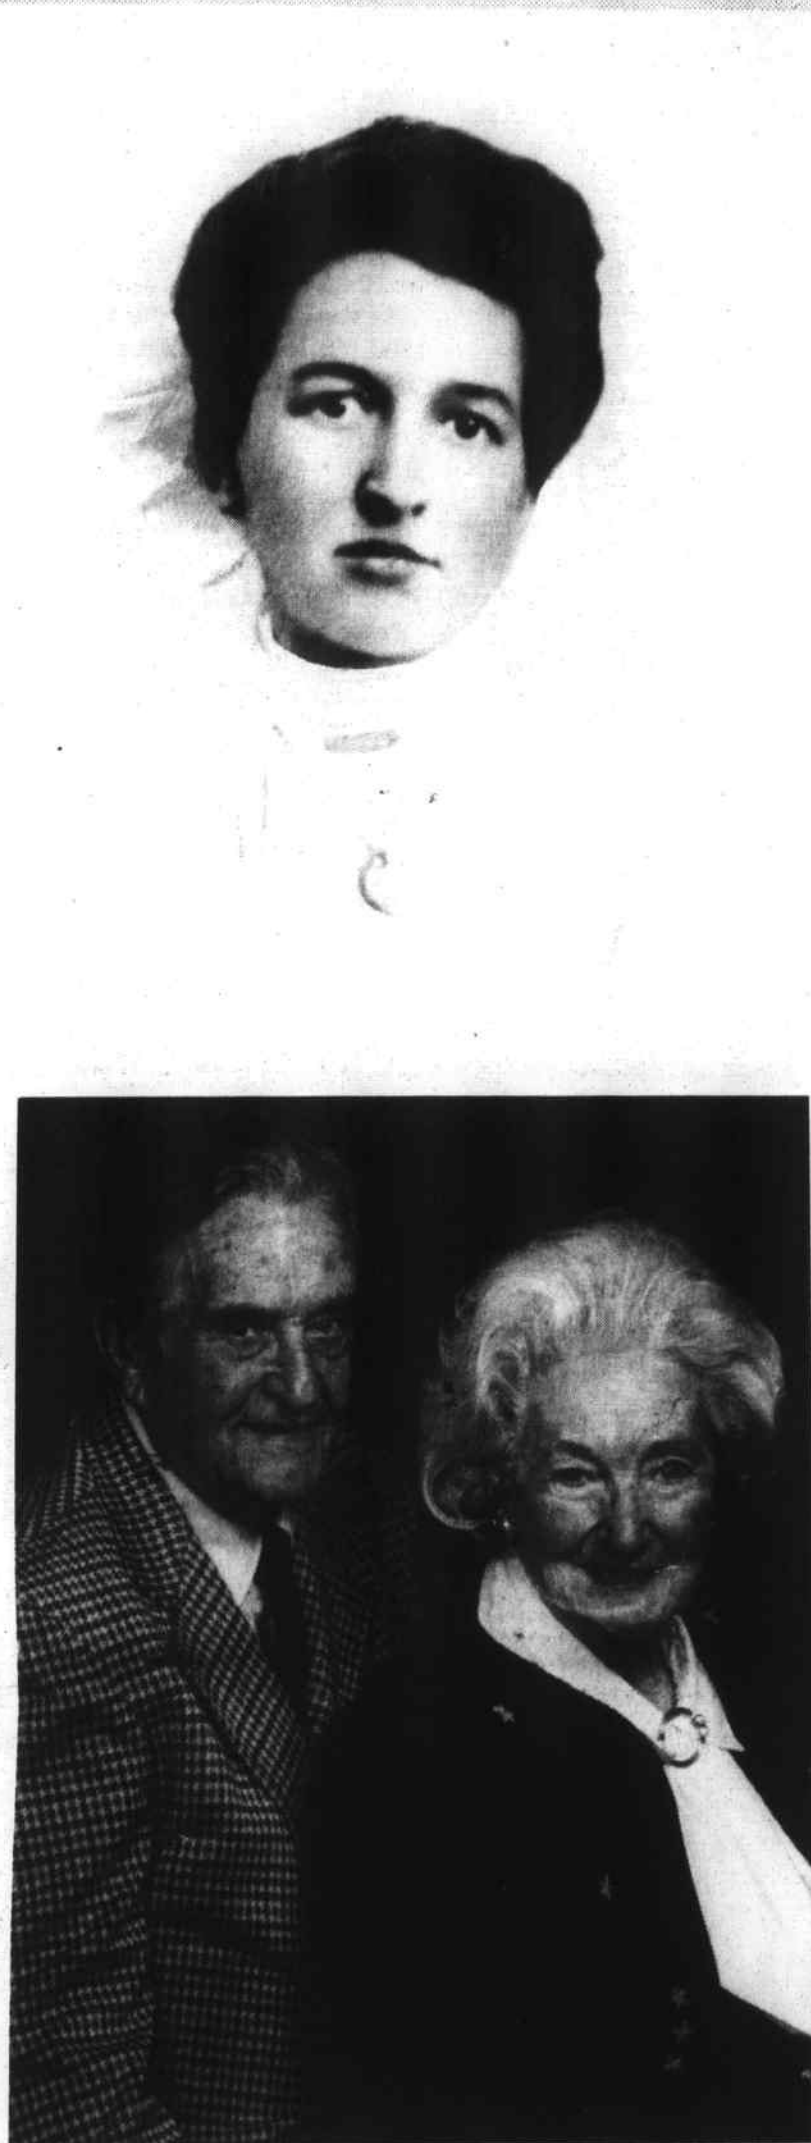

"There aren't too many Dads as good as ours was. I wish I had told him so years ago ... After Mama died ... I guess he just gave up."

"However, when we got this place, he came up about every day and helped us paint. I don't think we appreciated it as much as we should have. And all he did for our sister Doris and her

Father Remembered to S-4

ONE FATHER IS REMEMBERED in a very special way through a letter from a sister to a brother about their childhood in Wolfeboro, New Hampshire. Shown here are Les York of Reading, his wife Irene, and his parents, the subjects of a letter from Les' sister Evelyn to him upon the occasion of their father's birthday. Les and Irene York always celebrate Father's (and Mother's) Day in style - they have 13 great-grandchildren in this area and are looking forward to their upcoming 65th wedding anniversary.

ANTHONY MANCONI

In a saloon in a Wild West Frontier town, a dog was shot in the foot. It hobbled all the way home, put on a gunbelt and limped back, went under the swinging doors and looked over to a group of cowboys. The dog then, "Barked Out," loud and clear, "Aw Right who's the dirty rat who shot my PAW!"

My cousin Peggy Walsh, joined an order of "cloistered nuns." Except for prayers and singing of hymns, they observed the rule of silence. They were however permitted to say two words every ten years. Peggy's first two words were, "Cell Cold"

(a room is called a cell). The mother superior duly noted the complaint and promptly forgot it.

Ten years passed and Peggy's next two words were, "Food Bad." Those words were ignored too. Standing tall and straight ten years later, Peggy exclaimed, "I Quit!" "Good," the mother superior replied, "you've been nothing but a chronic complainer since you got here!"

Snoring disrupts your sleeping pattern, can leave you sluggish, irritable, unproductive and more likely to suffer accidents at work. Even worse, snoring disrupts family life, creating sleepless nights and resentment among family members. Snorers are often unwelcome roommates and guests on business trips and vacations. Finally, snoring can be an indication of obstructive sleep apnea, a serious medical problem.

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

Outside the Mainstream

The Main drag

Citing "negative public feedback on the issue," the Wakefield Board of Selectman has voted unanimously against a proposal to close off a section of Main St. on Sundays for recreational use. Next under consideration: how to make the roadways around Lake Quannapowitt safer for all travelers.

The good news

Two local agencies will benefit from a change in the United Way of Massachusetts Bay distribution formula, according to the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

United Way officials have announced that the Woburn Council of Social Concern will see an increase of $64,900 to $134,200 in funding and the Woburn Boys & Girls Club - instead of being dropped as feared - will see an increase of more than $8,000, making this year's budget $38,539. According to United Way spokeswoman Maureen Sullivan, the fear of ineligibility was unfounded because of a United Way announcement earlier this year misinterpreted by "The Boston Globe": it turns out that any organizations dropped because of funding less than $30,000 would be those for which the $30,000 represents only a small fraction of the total operating budget.

"I think," says Jay Boyle, president of the Woburn Boys & Girls Club, "United Way may have mistakenly thought Woburn is like Winchester or Lexington."

Congratulations, Jane

Jane Lavender of Melrose has been named the director of the Lynnfield senior center. Currently employed by Eastern Middlesex Human Services in Wakefield, Lavender is a licensed social worker with 10 years of experience with the elderly population.

Rats!

Reading's Imagination Station was closed again last week - for at least seven days - because of rats. It could be open again already - check with the Reading Health Department. Food and beverages had been banned at the playground but the ban had been ignored.

Town Meeting makes history

After three hours of deliberation, Winchester Town meeting has passed a bylaw - supported by the Historic Commission - establishing a six-month waiting period for the demolition of historic buildings.

Although the standing vote was close - 77-71 - no roll call vote was taken. According to Town Moderator John Sullivan, in the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," it has been about 15 years since a roll call vote has been taken at a Winchester Town Meeting and the vote would have taken about 45 minutes to accomplish.

According to one selectman, if a roll call had been taken, the bylaw change would never have passed.

Proponent Maureen Meister, according to the "Chronicle," said the law would help protect the town's many significant houses, the idea behind it being that if the owner of a building designated historically significant wants to tear it down there would be a six-month waiting period at the end of which, the owner could still demolish the building.

Proponents called it a "moderate" proposal which would have rare applications and was designed to preserve Winchester's historic heritage. They also noted that the law - which originally had a 12-month waiting period - was but a "speedbump" to discourage outside developers unconcerned about Winchester.

Opponents called the measure restrictive of the rights of property owners to use their property as they see fit.

Are there - or aren't there?

One father remembered

kids - no one will ever know"
Les York nourishes, and thrives within, a circle of love. His home and yard are enhanced by garden delights: the wooden wellhouse he fashioned from the remnants of an old New Hampshire mill, the hemlocks in the York forest bordering his backyard, the strawberries he nurtures, the maple sugar and other native flavors in the air. He has a collection of teddy bears, tools, Boy Scout treasures, and the memorabilia of a productive life in progress. He has painted the cellar walls above his desk with window frames and blue skies. The American flag is prominent - in his home and in his life.

Les York lives in Reading. He and his wife Irene are inseparable but were profiled recently, and separately, as "village people" in the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle." Les is a former candy salesman, journalist, city music festival director, Little League coach. Les is an honorary Native American, Eagle Scout advisor, faithful churchgoer. He and Irene have already put in five years as SADD advisors. The list of additional York credits is extensive and impressive.

Les, noted the "Chronicle," is more.

Much more.
"Well," writes his sister Evelyn. "I have got this off my chest. Just wanted to tell you our father was one in a million." Like father. Like son. Like sister.

ty sandwich and a banana. He reminded his wife that one sandwich was not enough for a construction worker.

So she proceeded to put in "Two dainty sandwiches" in Mario's lunch box. After more complaints she bought a one pound loaf of Italian bread, cut it lengthwise then filled it with one pound of salami, half pound of American cheese, a sliced tomato and some lettuce. She wrapped it all up, put it in a large brown paper bag and gave it to Mario the next morning.

That night she waited in vain for a compliment. When none was forthcoming she asked, "How was your lunch today dear?" "Oh, okay, I guess, but, I see that you're back to 'ONE sandwich' again!"

Folks, I'm the boss in my house but Kathy gives the orders. She said to me today, "be a man and do what I tell you to do."

Kathy showed me the card she got from a drugstore scale. It said, "You're beautiful and you weigh 120 pounds." "Look dear," I told her, "it has your weight wrong too."

Nature walk Summer birds of Plum Island

Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is offering a guided bird walk for adults at Plum Island on Sunday, June 25, 6:30-10:30 am (rain date: Sunday, July 2). We'll look for shorebirds, herons, sharp-tailed and seaside sparrows, and other resident birds. Bring binoculars and or spotting scope. Limited to 20.

When John MacCurtin was president of the Kiwanis Club he invited me to be the luncheon meeting speaker. I told my usual corny jokes, puns and quips; I asked Clut Tomkinson the next day, "how did the members like my speech?"

"Well," Clout said, "didn't you hear the booing?" "Yes," I said, "but I also heard some applause." Clout smiled and replied, "The applause was for those members who were booing."

Folks, I'm not complaining but with the "see through blouses," "Micro-Mini skirts" and the "peek a boo dresses, there is no such thing as a "Blind Date," anymore.

Oscar Jacobson of Custom Auto told me, "Chipper, ten thousand Swedes went through the weeds, chased by 'ONE' Norwegian." Oscar explained, "it was a woman who was chasing them."

Many of you have seen the dancing raisins. Well, for senior citizens there's a dancing prunes commercial.

Uncle John Shea loved to say at a party, "Eve was the first talking machine." Then Uncle John added, "Thomas Edison invented the first talking machine that could be shut off."

Joe Ravidia will be getting married soon. He was looking at some houses that were for sale. He told the builder, "I'm looking for a "Stucco House." "Mr. Ravidia," the builder said, "buy any one of the houses I build and I guarantee you'll get, 'STUCCO'!"

Dennis Tully borrowed $20,000 so he could finish Law School. His first case as an attorney was when his uncle sued Dennis for the $20,000.

My friend George Gould was born in that jewel in the necklace of islands, Prince Edward Island. (Home of Anne of Green Gables).

"What kind of a name is Gould?" I asked. George replied, "it's Irish with a little Scotch in it." My Aunt Nora snapped right back with, "George, I've known you for years but I've never seen you with just a little Scotch in you!"

The only time I could make both ends meet was when I worked for Bianco's Sausage Co.

Stan Black told me his lovely wife Emy is wonderful. He thanks her for the "twelve wonderful years" of marriage. Stan winked his eye and added, "Chipper I've been married for 37 years."

Folks, as far as me and Kathy are concerned I can't remember the number of times I had to sleep in the garage.

The TRUTH will set you free. "BALONEY!" Don't you believe it. The English Poet William Blake said it well, "The truth that's told with 'BAD' intent 'BEATS' all the lies you can invent."

School Notes

What about a centerfold?

Yearbook advisory

"There are so many photos of this person in the yearbook," says one sophisticated, cynical coed, "that I'm surprised there isn't a special pull-out section."

Class of '90

Several area school systems are notifying high school members of the Class of '90 that if they would like to pick up their cumulative folders at their local high school guidance offices, they should. Although academic records are retained for 90 years, state law requires schools to retain student cumulative folders for only five years after graduation.

Woburn says goodbye

Ten of Woburn's most experienced teachers retire this year, taking a combined 300 or so years of experience with them.

The retirees, who were honored on June 1st at Woburn

Also: Mary Kelly, Wyman Elementary School first grade teacher since 1970 and Natalie Mosconi, White Elementary School second grade teacher, in Woburn since 1956.

The final count

Semi-finalists for the position of deputy superintendent in Wakefield are: Dr. Elsa Levine, principal of Chelsea High School; Dr. Donald Holder; and Dr. Joseph Arancio, principal at Langley High School in McLean, Virginia.

Reading says hello again

After two 'nationwide' searches which eventually led to four finalists, Reading Interim Assistant Superintendent Dennis Richards has named Jeff Cryan principal of the Coolidge Middle School.

Presently the assistant principal of the Mansfield Middle School in Storrs, Connecticut, Cryan is the former English department head at both Coolidge and Parker Middle Schools in Reading, director of the Reading Summer School, and a former winner of Reading's Berger Award for Excellence in Teaching. He holds a master's in teaching from Brown University and in English from UMASS-Boston.

Jack says thanks

Internationally esteemed and popular - children's poet Jack Prelutsky did come to Reading's Barrows School for a day in May as advertised and has penned the following thank you to the Barrows community:

"Thank you, Bonnie for the delicious (and healthy) lunch and thanks also to the PTO, especially the prez!

"Hello Eileen and all my friends at Barrows Elem. School - Hooray for you! Carolyn and I had a super time, and we appreciate all your efforts and TLC. We were delighted with the greeting committee, and by all the preparation. Thanks to Mr. Papandreu for making me feel so welcome. It couldn't have been a better visit - and I love my book of poems."

Photo finish

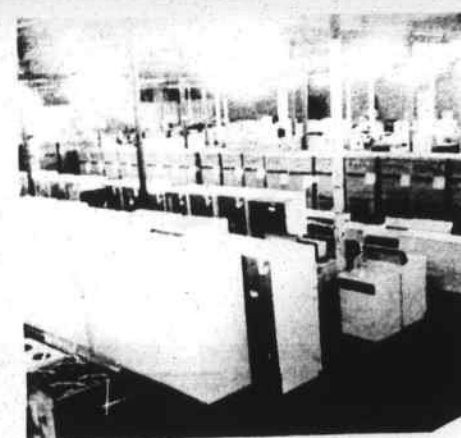

"Checking out his new home is Wildwood Principal Paul Cabral who looks over blueprints for the Francis Wyman School," reads the caption in the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle." "The Francis Wyman will be converted to an elementary school and the Wildwood will be closed. The target date for re-opening the Francis Wyman is September 1996."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

If anyone was in doubt about this summer's blockbuster flick, they need look no further than their local toy store or fast food restaurant, where the merchandising of Batman Forever began before the first reel hit theaters. All that pre-movie hype, however, does live up to, well, the hype.

Safer and more commercial-minded than the previous two Batman movies, "Batman Forever" works, but in a conventional, predictable way. This is both good and bad. Good in that the second "Batman" flick, directed by Tim Burton, was too dark and muddled, though it did have an originality lacking in this flick. Director Joel Schumacher's version is much more accessible, but occasionally pandering. Gone is the weirdness, to be replaced by a linear storyline and cheap laughs guaranteed to garner big box office returns.

Schumacher makes sure we can see more of this flick than the two directed by Burton. The lighting is less dark, the cameras less jangly. We can actually focus on Gotham City, instead of trying to see bits of it as the Batcar whizzes by. It's less exciting than Burton's two interpretations, but it is also less work.

The plot leads to a mundane outcome that is made more palatable by the characterizations along the way. Jim Carrey is the best we've ever seen him as the Fiddler. His over-the-top antics serve him well as the green-clad madman hoping to suck all the brainwaves out of Gotham City residents via his holographic TV enhancer.

Less successful is Tommy Lee Jones as Two-Face, a crazed former District Attorney who blames Batman for his disfigurement. His performance is manic and loud, but not particularly innovative. Much like the film itself, Jones will engage you, but he doesn't dazzle.

Though the bad guys still have more screen time than our driven superhero, more of the Bat's scarred psyche is revealed than in Michael Keaton's turn as the Dark Knight. Like before, the role is neither flashy nor particularly dramatic, as Batman is always calm and collected. Kilmer does a commendable job but much like Keaton, he is upstaged by the flashier bad guys.

Batman is joined by a troubled young man who desperately wants to aid him in his battle against crime. As Robin, Chris O'Donnell hits just the right angry young man notes and shows more passion than any of his co-stars. Nicole Kidman churns out another sexy, photogenic, and cold performance as a famous criminal psychologist who falls for both Bruce Wayne and Batman, creating a love triangle with only two people.

Better is Michael Gough, who is given more time before the camera than in his past outings as Alfred, Bruce Wayne's butler. It's still a small part, but Gough, a superbly polished actor, wastes no time in conveying Alfred's droll wit. Like Gough, there are other small surprises along the way, but you can't escape the mainstream marketing campaign used to develop "Batman Forever."

Congo has it all - the makings of a grade B. 1950's studio adventure, except for the (mostly) big-budget, 1990's special effects. The result is all very retro. Scientists tramp through Africa looking for the Lost City of Zinj and flawless diamonds while hoping to return an endangered mountain gorilla, that speaks fluent sign language, back to its original habitat. Despite many flaws, there is something fun about all the excess in this overblown, campy adventure, which almost qualifies as a guilty pleasure. Rated PG-13.  1/2.

The Bridges of Madison County just blows away the best-selling hokey novel by Robert James Waller. Clint Eastwood, using remarkable restraint, is sensitive and manly as the photographer who woos an 'housewife, played with lots of personality by Meryl Streep. This romance has it all - intelligence, humor, and a lot of warmth. It's a little talky, but sad and sexy enough so that we can overlook it. Rated PG-13.

Fluke, an odd little film about reincarnation and Karma, has a distinctively European flavor that is strangely appealing. What it doesn't have is a target audience, as it tries to please both adults and kids, becoming diluted in the process. Matthew Modine is a dead businessman who comes back as a pup hoping to solve the mystery of his human death

Miracles

Wilmington Kiwanis Club and pediatric trauma

Alyssa was hit by a car when she ran into the street after her new puppy. She was thrown 90 feet and the right side of her body was crushed. She was flown to the KIWANIS PEDIATRIC TRAUMA INSTITUTE (KPTI) in Boston from her local hospital in a Medflight helicopter. She went into surgery twice that night and her heart stopped several times, but she recovered.

Today Alyssa is a beautiful little girl leading a normal life.

In 1980, the Kiwanis Foundation of New England founded the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute as a joint venture with Tufts - New England Medical Center.

Since then, through the generosity of Kiwanians and their friends, the Institute has become the heart of trauma treatment for children throughout New England. Today, it serves as the model for similar facilities around the world.

Thousands of children from towns and cities all over New England have been saved from death and permanent disability.

Helipads have been built to rush young accident victims to emergency treatment. Research and community programs have been funded. A Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Center has been established at Hartford (CT) Hospital.

Kiwanians, through thousands of pancake breakfasts, fairs and a host of other fund raising events (this program) have made all this possible.

In the United States, 15,000 children die from trauma - accidental injury - every year. Trauma is the leading cause of death of children.

Another 50,000 children are permanently disabled. 3,000 of these children are from New England. These are not statistics. they are your children... your friends'... your neighbors.

Come early to stake out your turf on the Saturday, July 1st for the Family Day fireworks display. By 7 a.m., as the K of C members are serving their first breakfasts people will be setting up for the day. By evening there is nary a spot. In the foreground the Fourth of July Committee solicits your support for your fireworks next year. Each year the committee must raise enough to run the next year's events. Please be generous.

One of the most popular team events is the hospital bed race. Each year teams go into training early on race day and practice drawing straws as who gets to ride the bed. Saturday at 6:00 p.m. all the training will pay off as one gains immortality, going down in the record books for all eternity.

One can only guess what the question was that was asked of these two Keystone Kops by the unsuspecting "tourists." Which way to the ladies' room? Where is the nearest parking space? Where will the fireworks be? Have you seen Elvis? Amazingly, these two Keystone Kops agree. Not surprisingly, the "tourists" don't understand.
